

they reach the numbers that allow them to impose their will, they will do so." Raymond Ibrahim calls it the Rule of Numbers.

5. Gain small, incremental, legal concessions from non-Muslim countries.

And make sure you give no concessions in return. For example, the Phoenix airport capitulated to some Islamic women's demands to change the uniform of their employees. The airport's uniform included pants, and the Islamic women said they couldn't wear them and they wanted to wear skirts. So the airport conceded. No big deal, right? Concessions like this are being made constantly, with greater frequency. When it all adds up, it is a big deal. The fact that each concession is so small is one of the reasons people allow it.

These five strategies are already being done right under our noses. The way to stop the slow-encroachment invasion is to educate non-Muslims. Once people can see what orthodox Muslims are doing, they'll vote against it, and they'll vote for representatives who demonstrate they see it too.

The result will be no more concessions to Islam. The encroachment must be stopped. You can help, you must help. We need others to help. Have conversations with people you know. Talk to them about Muhammad, share articles, DVDs, books. We can stop the invasion; we just have to be smart about it.

Five Ways to Invade and Defeat a Militarily Superior Free Country

Islam's Stealth Jihad

What is Islam?

Islam is defined by the holy texts of its religion - not by the beliefs, actions or virtues of a Muslim.

Many people think we in the West have nothing to worry about from Islam. The West has superior weapons, a superior military, and orthodox Muslims are not going to start an all-out war with western powers. All of this may be true. What we westerners should be more concerned about is perpetual Islamic political encroachment as democracies give Islam one political concession after another until we've helped build a trap for ourselves from which we cannot escape.

The orthodox Muslim's work has already begun. The Islamic invasion is already underway.

Here's the plan:

1. Suppress criticism of Islam.

At the very least, you can cry, "Racism!" (even though Islam is not a race) and that might silence someone or get them fired. But you can often go much farther. When someone says anything critical of Islam or Muslims, Islamic organizations like CAIR sue writers, publishers, television and radio personalities for defamation or libel or discrimination. Since many of these suits are brought by Muslims with endless oil money (and can afford the best lawyers and long legal campaigns) it makes people think twice about speaking openly, even in free countries.

In 1999, CAIR organized a public humiliation campaign demanding an apology against renowned radio personality Paul Harvey for his comments about Islamic terrorism. After 9-11 CAIR filed a $2 million defamation lawsuit against a U.S. Congressman who claimed CAIR was a fund-raising arm for terrorists. A federal appeals court later ruled against CAIR. A later court case — the Holy Land Foundation Trial in 2008 — proved the Congressman right. CAIR also went after radio counselor Dr. Laura Schlessinger — who refused to issuing an on-air apology.

Islamic countries repeatedly press the United Nations to make criticism of Islam an international "hate" crime. Of course, instilling the fear of death helps suppress criticism too.

2. Use deceit to keep non-Muslims confused, at odds with each other, and ineffective.

Islam has a principle called taqiyya, which means "religious deception." Basically it stems from the Islamic concept that Islam is at war with all non-Muslims, and all is fair in love and war. Deceit is used by most military strategists as a legitimate weapon, and it is permissible and even encouraged in the Koran against anyone who is not a Muslim. (Surah 2:225 or Surah 16:106)

3. Convert kafirs into Muslims.

Outreach programs, television, one-on-one conversations, advertising — they use it all, and they present to kafirs (non-Muslims) only a friendly face of Islam, hoping to dupe them into accepting Islam as "peaceful, tolerant and mainstream." Or they use the "join with us and end your persecution" approach (with minorities). They also have a very successful track record of converting criminals in prisons into fanatical Muslims. They try everything.

4. Increase your numbers inside the non-Muslim country.

Orthodox Muslim men sometimes have several wives, even in western democracies where it is illegal, and have many children per wife. Muslim men sometimes try to get non-Muslim women to marry them, but get them to convert first. Often these extra wives get "mothers with dependent children" financial assistance because they register as "unwed." This helps to financially bleed the system. Another war tactic.

Another way they increase their numbers is to help get more Muslims to immigrate into the non-Muslim countries. They recognize the power of numbers and they are actively pursuing that course. Serge Trifkovic (author of The Sword of the Prophet) said Muslims have proven throughout history that "once
